

About Lilydale Airport

Lilydale Airport is nestled in Victoria's Yarra Valley, only a 45-minute drive north-east of Melbourne. The airport is home to a bustling general aviation community with everything from a flying school, charter flights, aircraft engineers, skydivers, vintage aircraft rides, helicopter operators and more right there on the airport.

With well-kept runways and aviation fuel (avgas and Jet-A1) readily available, Lilydale Airport is one of the most complete general aviation airports in the Melbourne basin.

With no control tower and therefore no landing fees for private flights, Lilydale is dedicated to the promotion of the general aviation community, and therefore to making sure you get the best out of your aviation career. It's a great place to fly!
